INTERNET IDENTITY WORKSHOP 2005

- Stage 1: Each application on its own
 - Post-It security
 - Who is going to protect you from Kevin Bacon?
- Stage 2: Enterprise directory
 - Carpal tunnel syndrome
 - The devil is in the (schema) details
- Stage 3: Enterprise identity management
 - Light at the end of the tunnel
 - Still difficult to grow. In depth and in breadth
- Stage 4: Federated identity
 - The worst known form of identity management, with the exception of all the others that havee been tried
 - And there are examples of this

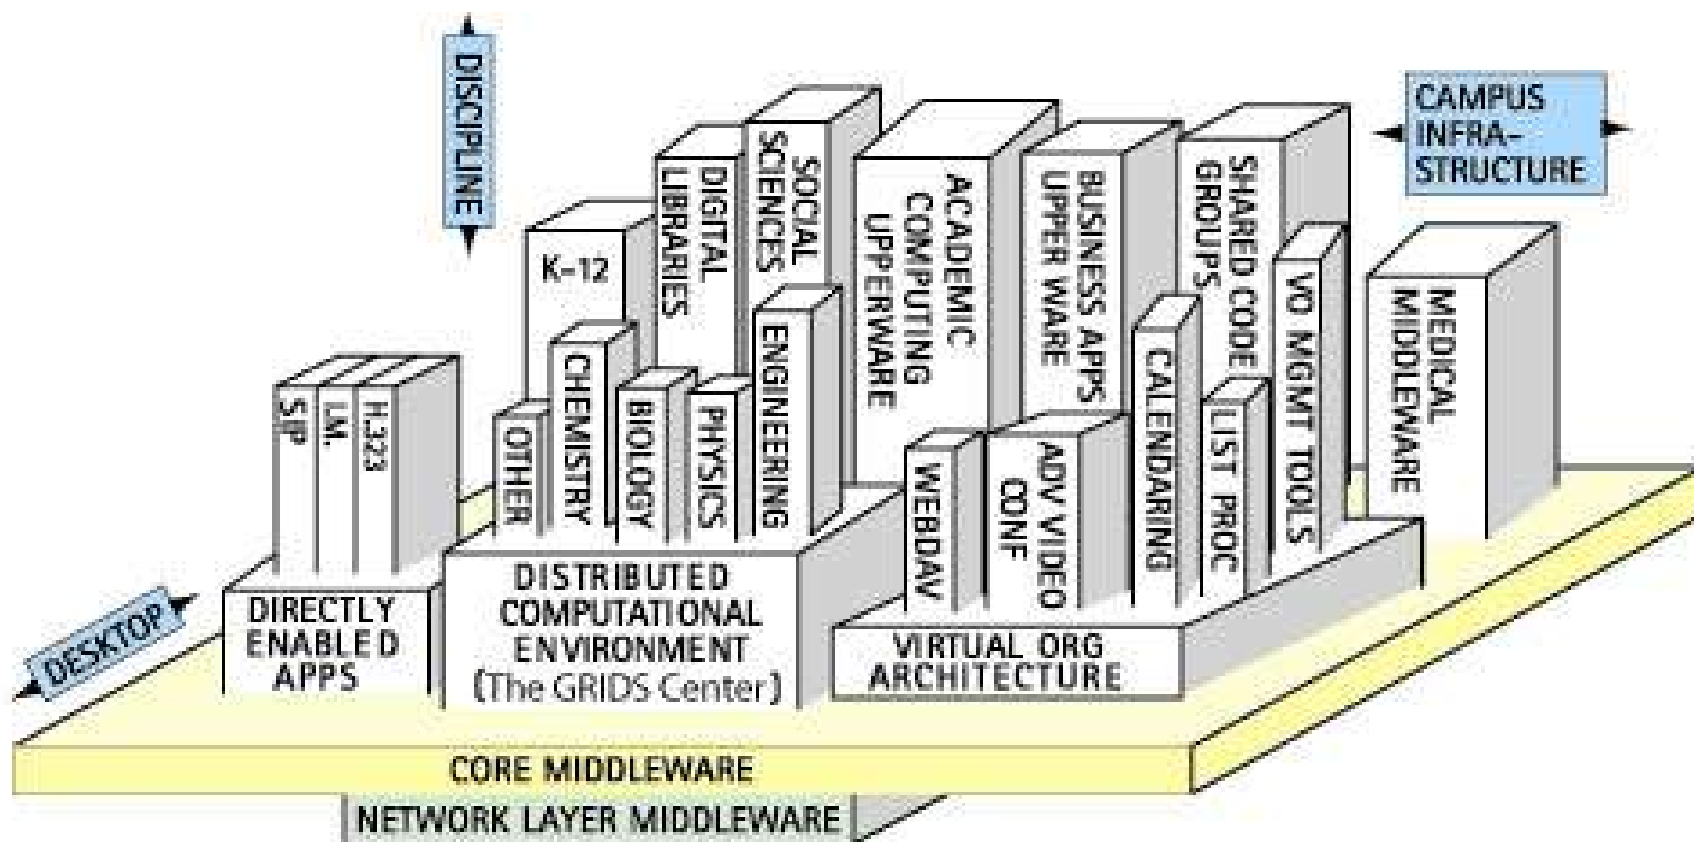

Diagram by Ken Klingenstein. "Collaborative Technologies and Enterprise Middleware"

- The most relevant issues in core middleware
 - With emphasis in the campus view
 - And a practical approach
- Some of the best specialists and practitioners
 - From the academic world
 - In Europe, the USA and Australia
- You
 - Full-duplex communication is essential
 - And the recruitment office is always open

- Have a productive meeting
- Establish the foundations for the coming EuroCAMPs
- Have fun!
